

Maybe
by Larissa Lam

You came and shared my dreams
Understood my needs
You gave me hope when all my hope was gone
I didn't ask
But you always gave me more
You were the One that I adored
You looked over me but I hardly notice You at all now Standing back at a distance from where You are

Maybe I'll run to You
Maybe I'll crawl
Maybe I'll turn to You when my life falls apart
Maybe I'll follow You
Maybe I'll stray
Maybe I've forgotten how to love You with all of my heart

Now I never have the time
Been distracted in my mind
Too proud to see that anything is wrong

What I want, are solutions of my own
To have victory alone
But I hear Your voice calling out to me from so far
Ready to reach out to me from where You are

CHORUS

Maybe I've forgotten how to love You
With all of my heart
